David's Coat.

David Robertson, the Scotch naturalist, had, when a boy, rather an unusual experience in clothing himself, and the method he adopted seems amusingly different from that of boys in our own day, who when they want a new jacket, ask for it or go without.

David was early apprenticed to a farmer to herd the cattle, and one day he went to a fair with his master and there gained a prize of twenty shillings by running a race. When he reached home his mistress offered him for the pound enough of homemade woolen cloth for a coat, but though David joyfully accepted it, he was disappointed at finding that the tailor would not make his yearly visit to the house for some time.

With the impatience of youth he begged his mistress to let him make the coat himself. At first she refused, but when David persisted, she agreed to the wild project, stipulating, however, that he should take all the responsibility and ask help of no one.

The boy began by carefully ripping his old coat in pieces for a pattern, and by this he cut the new one, first numbering the pieces in chalk that he might know how to put them together. As all his time belonged to his master he was obliged to take his sewing out into the pasture, and there after a month of laborious work the new coat was completed. Its buttons came from an old coat which had been discarded by his master, and the thread with which it was put together had been spun and dyed at the house.

When David showed his mistress the new coat she was loud in praise of it, and declared that not even the tailor could have done it better. One thing, however, it needed, and that was a careful pressing, which he was allowed to give it at the house.

The hardest task of all remained, for he was obliged to remake his old coat, and as the seams were frayed and delicate he had to exercise great care in joining them again. Another month and this task also was done. Then was David the proud possessor of two coats—Youth's Companion.

The Queer End of a Snake Fight. One of the most exciting contests ever witnessed occurred at the depot of the Georgia Midland railroad.

The contest was between Ernest Lower's pet king snake and a little green snake known as a "garter." The snakes were about of equal size and length, and it was hard to tell for half an hour who would prove the victor in the contest.

After racing around the cage for some time the king snake caught the green one about six inches from the head, slipping himself around his adversary and getting his mouth closer and closer to its head. The green snake the while kept its mouth wide open as if in an effort to get its head too large to go into the king snake's mouth and thereby thwart its effort to swallow him. This effort proved futile, for soon the head and about six inches of the green snake were in the stomach of the king. At this point of the game another and more stubborn contest took place.

In the cage are two wires—one running perpendicular and the other horizontal. Twisting itself around the perpendicular wire, the green snake tied itself into various hard knots. Mounting the horizontal bar, or wire, the king began the work of unfastening the coils of the other by continued pulling and swallowing.

When thefeat was accomplished, with the exception of about a half foot of the tail, it looked like the king snake would be defeated, but with some maneuvering the tail was untied, and the job of swallowing was completed.

After finishing the task the king snake looked wonderfully pleased, and raced around eying the spectators for some minutes.—Cor. Atlanta Constitution.

A Queer Hallucination.

There is a very good story, which has the somewhat unusual merit of truth, which has been told again and again in the dispensary, as illustrating the power of imagination. A lady, who was otherwise quite rational, was troubled with a horrible feeling that a snake was gnawing away her vitals, as she explained it. Efforts were made to convince her of her error, but without avail, and it was finally decided to humor her out of her trouble. A small snake was secured, and one day she was told the necessary operation would be gone through to relieve her of her trouble. Chloroform was administered and when she revived a scratch made while she was asleep was carefully bandaged up, and the snake was exhibited as evidence of the superiority of her diagnosis over that of the physicians. Her joy was painful to witness, and she went away thoroughly cured.—Interview in St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Murder in the Air. As a Sixth avenue elevated train approached the Eighteenth street up station the other afternoon a series of feminine yells broke upon the ears of the passengers.

With others I rushed to the windows overlooking the east side of the street. A crowd was fast gathering on the sidewalk. When the train stopped at the station a number of passengers got out to learn who "was being murdered."

As I reached the spot the crowd was gazing intently at a dentist's sign. Just then the yells ceased, and a man came out of the doorway with this announcement, "She's only having her tooth pulled."—New York Herald.

News of Importance From Home and Abroad.

The Sealing Schooners

Special to the Journal.

The citizens of San Francisco are aroused by the decision of Judge Murphy of the Superior Court in favor of the gang of thieves and corruptionists who have been plundering the tax payers and polluting the ballot box. A mass meeting of business men and reputable citizens was held at Metropolitan Hall, Friday evening, at which over one hundred prominent citizens acted as Vice Presidents. Speeches were made denouncing Judge Murphy and the political corruptionists generally and the following resolutions were adopted.

"That no honest man has anything to fear from the Grand Jury, and that past proof of its grand character lies in the fact that all the political pirates and their corrupt creatures and dishonest public officials are its outspoken opponents.

"That considering the degraded condition of public affairs in the city and State, the low tone of political morality, the fixing of juries and courts, the bribing of Supervisors and Legislators and the debauching of public servants, obeying the behests of irresponsible, so-called bosses, we hail any remedy, however drastic, as a necessity.

"That we denounce the conduct of Judge D. J. Murphy as contrary to law, and a betrayal of the people, and we proclaim to the world that by his decision he has arranged himself on the side of the corrupt element in the community in the battle for honest government, which has now only begun, and which will never cease until our whole body politic is purged of the evil that affects it."

Those resolutions, adopted at a mass meeting of the tax payers and respectable citizens of San Francisco, indicates the condition of public affairs and the sentiment of the public regarding the corruption which exists, not only in the city government and the State Legislature. A Grand Jury composed of reputable and responsible men, sworn to diligently inquire into every infraction of the laws, subpoenaed several of the persons suspected of being implicated in the general corruption which is known to exist to appear and testify. Instead of obeying the order of the jury, as honest men would not hesitate to do, they questioned its legality, and an associate Judge of the court which impaneled the jury releases them from all responsibility for ignoring the subpoenas of the jury. This implied, and the citizens have so construed it that at least one of the Judges of the Superior Court of San Francisco is in league with the bribe-givers and bribe-takers and corruptionists of the city.

This is worse than anything in the line of political corruption that has ever occurred in Nevada, at least since Territorial days. The courts of this State have been singularly free from corporations and boss control. Though a few men have been charged with controlling Legislatures and virtually framing the laws of the State, it has never been charged that the bosses even attempted to influence the decisions of the courts.

What the final result of the feeling now existing in San Francisco will be, remains to be seen. The people are aroused and fully aware of the necessity which exists for purifying the city government and the Legislature and releasing the masses from the yoke of the bosses.

THE BOARD OF ASSESSORS.

It is now stated that the Board of Assessors and Equalization has not assessed the rolling stock of railroads in Nevada. The assessed value of this class of property last year amounted to about a million dollars. If this is included in the valuation of $14,000 per mile placed on the Central Pacific Railroad, the increased valuation of that road will not exceed $675,000, and as there has been a reduction of about fifteen per cent, in the State rate of taxation the actual tax on the road this year will be little if any more than it was last year.

It is rumored in Carson that a majority of the Board advocate a horizontal raise of thirty per cent, on individual property in the several counties. The Governor and State Controller are said to be opposed to an increase of more than fifteen per cent on individual property, but they are antagonized by the other members.

This rumor may be nothing more than idle talk, and a week or two more will determine whether it is or not. If it should be founded on fact, and the valuation of the railroads is increased only fifteen per cent, while that of the property of private individuals is increased thirty per cent, it will show that those who engineered the bill through the Legislature knew what they were about.

The Russian bear is displeased with English interference with its movements on the frontier. Doubtless many a good Christian farmer in the United States, with well filled granaries, wishes from the bottom of his heart that trouble may come between the bull and bear. A war between Russia and England would send the price of wheat higher than it has been for twenty years.

A general strike of railroad coal miners has been inaugurated at Pittsburg, Pennsylvania. It is estimated that 10,000 men have quit work. The strike was in accordance with resolutions adopted at a miners' convention. They demand a higher price for their labor.

Shutting off the arc lights left the streets in darkness, and now cutting off the incandescent lights makes the town look dismal.

Cleveland Happy.

Special to the Journal.

NEW YORK, October 3.—The wife of ex-President Cleveland gave birth to a fine girl baby to-day. The mother and child are doing well.

The important news did not become known down town until nearly noon. Then it spread with the utmost rapidity, both in the city and to other parts of the country. During the afternoon many flowers were sent to Mrs. Cleveland and both father and mother received hearty congratulations. Then messenger boys began to move up the avenue with telegraphic messages from all parts of the country. The ex-President bears his new honors modestly. He said to-day: "I don't want to brag any but this baby now is as stout and as good as hosts of babies are when they are three or four days old."

A Fatal Fire.

Special to the Journal.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., October 3.—The third fire within a week occurred here this afternoon. The two latter were attended with a loss of life. This time it was the residence of B. J. Nilson, occupied by J. S. Duncan, an old night watchman, who, with his big dog, is a well known character here. It is supposed that Duncan was intoxicated and upset an oil stove he used for cooking purposes. When the fire was first noticed he was seen to stagger towards the door, but fell backwards into the flames, which were so fierce as to render rescue impossible. The dog stuck to his master, faithful to the end, and perished with him.

Fire at Carson.

Special to the Journal.

CARSON, October 3.—A portion of the Rink block was burned to the ground this morning. The loss is $4,000. The fire started in the rear of the Dairy restaurant and spread to L. Siddon's watch store, Job Sternberg's fruit store and L. Morton's cobbler shop. There was considerable saved in all the departments. The insurance is light. John G. Fox owned the buildings. The fire originated in a defective fuse. Two brick buildings on each side of the fire saved the greater portion of the block.

Fearfully Mangled.

Special to the Journal.

ELMIRA, Cal., October 3.—M. Mollen, one of the gang of railroad leaders, in attempting to board a moving gravel train here this morning, fell beneath the cars and was fearfully mangled. His left arm was cut entirely off and his left leg below the knee was crushed. He is said to have been under the influence of liquor at the time and was taken this evening to the hospital at Sacramento. The local doctors think it will be necessary to amputate the leg.

Examination of Curtis.

Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 3.—The preliminary examination of Maurice B. Strelinger, Sam'l of Posen, for the murder of Officer Grant, was resumed to-day. The testimony, similar to that at the inquest, was given, showing that he was accustomed to carry a pistol and that he was the man who fled from the spot immediately after the shooting. The case was continued until Monday afternoon.

Reception to Democratic Statesmen. Special to the Journal.

SAN FRANCISCO, October 3.—At a meeting of the Iroquois Club this afternoon a committee was named to go to Sacramento to meet the visiting Democratic statesmen and escort them to this city. They left at 7 o'clock this evening and will return tomorrow morning. To-morrow evening a public reception will be held at Metropolitan Hall.

American Pork.

Special to the Journal.

BERLIN, October 3.—The trade in American pork is still very limited. The cost of inspection in America, combined with the duty still imposed here, prevents a popular sale. The price for salted American pork rules about fifty-four marks per hundred weight, while cured German bacon sells at fifty-six marks.

WHAT IS

SCROFULA

It is that impurity in the blood, which, accumulating in the glands of the neck, produces unsightly lumps or swellings, which cause painful running sores on the arms, legs, or feet; which develops ulcers in the eyes, ears, or nose, often causing blindness or deafness; which is the origin of pimples, cancerous growths, or the many other manifestations usually ascribed to "humors;" which, fastening upon the lungs, causes consumption and death. Being the most ancient, it is the most general of all diseases or afflictions, for very few persons are entirely free from it.

How Can It Be CURED

By taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, which, by the remarkable cure it has accomplished, often when other medicines have failed, has proven itself to be a potent and peculiar medicine for this disease. Some of these cures are really wonderful. If you suffer from scrofula, be sure to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. "My daughter Mary was afflicted with scrofulous neck from the time she was 22 months old till she became six years of age. Lumps formed in her neck, and one of them after growing to the size of a pigeon's egg, became a running sore for over three years. We gave her Hood's Sarsaparilla, when the lump and all indications of scrofula entirely disappeared, and now she seems to be a healthy child." J. S. CARLILE, Naugart, N. J.

THE ORMSBY COUNTY FAIR.

Reno Day at the Races—A Large Attendance and Lively Betting.

Friday was Reno Day at the Carson District Fair. By common consent the business houses all closed, giving both business men and employees an opportunity of visiting and enjoying the hospitality of our sister city. At 9:20 a well-filled train pulled out for Carson. There were three car-loads, comprising the leading business men of Reno, with a large number of ladies and a good representation of Reno youth, including the JOURNAL reporter.

The ride in the cool and invigorating air, through the Truckee Meadows and Washoe Valley, so justly celebrated for her fine horses and excellent fruit ranches was most thoroughly enjoyed by all.

The train arrived in Carson on time. The Renoites put in their time until 1 P. M. visiting Carson friends and early in the afternoon all wended their way to the fair grounds.

Five car-loads of people from Virginia City largely increased the crowd.

THE PROGRAMME OF RACES.

Was excellent and the $750 handicap race between Del Mar, Idaho Chief, Almont, Stacy and Canny Scott was probably one of the prettiest races ever run on the Carson track. The horses bunched from the start with Stacy in the lead and Canny Scott in the rear. They continued well together until the three-quarter stretch when Canny Scott and Stacy changed places. Down the home stretch they came like a whirlwind, all plying the lash vigorously with Canny Scott just in the lead, the others close behind. The vast audience in the grand stand, consisting mainly of ladies, who were deeply interested in the race, and the multitude of excited men, most all of whom had money on the race, made the air ring with shouts, and when it became known that Canny Scott was the winner, the hats and canes of the fortunate ones who had odds of 10 to 1 on Canny Scott, filled the air.

Carson is a speedy and blooded town. Everybody bet and everybody seemed to have money and thousands of dollars changed hands on the races.

THE GRAND STAND.

Presented a charming appearance. It was filled to standing room only with ladies. The railing in front was lined two deep with fair ones who seemed no less excited over the races than their fathers and brothers who were below them. The coolness of the day caused most of them to come out in heavy wraps, but the prevailing dark costumes were, however, here and there broken by lighter colors so that the effect was striking. From the reporter's stand, just across from the grand stand, one could not view the sea of lovely faces without giving Carson City the premium for the largest number of handsome girls in that or any other town of its size on the coast. To see them is but to be charmed with them; to know them but to love them.

THE PAVILION.

The stock display was "not in it" when compared with that of the State Fair, yet the pavilion is something of which the residents of Ormsby county may well be proud. A neat, pretty and substantial building, the inside of which is most conveniently arranged. At the first view the beholder is impressed with the tasteful arrangement of the exhibit. The displays are all made to the best advantage, the variety showing the deep interest of the people of Carson and vicinity in the fair.

The fruit display was as fine as ever seen in Nevada. Mrs. R. M. Clarke's fancy work department deservedly received commendation. The University Experiment Station exhibit is grand. The State, the University and the people can but congratulate themselves in having secured so efficient a man as Professor McDowell.

The variety of grains attracted much attention. In the exhibit are many things which the people never dreamed Nevada soil capable of producing, tobacco, the rame plant, peanuts and sorghum being among the most surprising exhibits.

The fair was a decided success in every sense of the word. Carson can feel proud of her work, and the Renoites all join in and are glad to know that the people of the State are so enterprising and can make such a creditable display of her resources.

Chautauqua Work.

The Chautauqua Circle met last night at the residence of Mrs. Folsom. The following business was transacted: Miss Emily Gillman was elected Treasurer, Mrs. Menia Webster, Mrs. Folsom and Miss Matie Snow Critiques. Frank Norcross was elected to conduct the History Department, Miss Shoemaker the Social Institutions and Miss Loder the Literary Department for the coming month. Mrs. Folsom, Mrs. Palmer, C. A. Norcross, Miss Echo Loder and Miss Matie Snow were elected delegates to the convention called for the 9th to discuss the proposition of getting permanent headquarters for the Summer Assembly. The Chautauqua Lyceum Association Committee reported progress, and are arranging for the best course of lectures ever given in Reno. As soon as the work is fully completed a synopsis of the Winter's lectures will be printed. There was a large attendance, and the interest thus early manifested in the work insures a successful year.

The physicians who have been attending Officer Nash say the bullet that it was feared would cause his death, has cured a rupture of many years' standing. The bullet irritated and inflamed the break and caused it to heal. It is one of the most remarkable cases on record, and the doctors will report it for the medical magazines.

Announcement of the Nevada Agricultural Experiment Station.

The Chemical Department of the Nevada Agricultural Experiment Station is now fully equipped and prepared to analyze fertilizers, manures, cattle feeds, soils, water, butter, milk, cheese, sugar beets and all other agricultural materials and products. All chemical analyses proper to an experiment station that can be used for the benefit of the public will be made without charge. All results must be at the disposal of the Station to use or publish as deemed advisable for the public good. It is hoped that those interested will take advantage of this opportunity and send in samples for analysis. The result of each analysis will be promptly communicated to the party sending the sample. Those that are of general interest will be published in bulletins, copies of which will be sent gratis to any resident of Nevada desiring them upon application.

It is the wish of the authorities in charge to make the Station as widely useful as its resources will permit. Every citizen of Nevada who is interested in agriculture, whether farmer, manufacturer or dealer, has the right to apply to the Station for any assistance that comes within its province. All such communications will receive prompt attention.

THE BISHOP'S SCHOOL FOR GIRLS.

The Principal's Report for September.

The first month closed Tuesday, September 29th, a month of satisfactory work. The opening was encouraging and the attendance is still increasing. Our classes are well organized and the earnest effort on the part of the students is as pleasing to their teachers as it will prove beneficial to them. The conditions for Roll of Honor or Roll of Merit require that a girl shall not be absent more than one day, and a grade of 95 per cent. in each study and deportment for the first, and 90 per cent. for the second.

Many really good students fail to attend these grades, meeting sometimes the requirements in all but one item. It seems hard that a difference of one per cent. should deny a girl the coveted honor, but these rolls would lose their meaning, were we less strict in our markings. We do not underrate those who come so near and yet fail to reach either roll. We bid them good cheer, remembering that the race is not always to the swift.

We come to school, not so much to excel our neighbors as to gain improvement for ourselves, and when we have reached the highest excellence of which we are capable, we gain all the good our school has to offer.

It is a pleasure, however, to ourselves, and to our friends to reach the top-most round, and the fortunate ones this month are:

Roll of Merit—Misses Mable Godirov, Freddie Lord, Lena Monroe.

Roll of Honor, Music Department—Misses M. L. Lionberger, Nellie Ashby, Freddie Lord, Louise Evans.

Supposed Murderers Captured.

Special to the JOURNAL.

NAPA, Cal., October 3.—Sheriff McKenzie returned here to-day with two men who were arrested at Glendale, Montana, on suspicion of being the men that murdered Mrs. Greenwood in this county last February. The men give their names as George and J. C. Dawson, and claim to be brothers. A note from Joe to George while in jail was intercepted recently which practically confessed the murder. Afterwards Joe Dawson confessed to Sheriff Hayes that he had murdered a woman and said George and another man were his accomplices. Both men, however, now deny all knowledge of the crime and claim they were in the Walla Walla penitentiary when it was committed. Captain Greenwood, who was left for dead by the robbers who murdered his wife, cannot positively identify them, though they suit the description. The evidence was thought sufficient to warrant bringing them here for trial.

Trial of Heney.

Special to the JOURNAL.

TUCSON, A. T., October 3.—The preliminary hearing of Francis J. Heney for the killing of Dr. J. C. Handy on the 24th, which has occupied the entire week, was concluded this afternoon. Judge Culver reviewed the evidence briefly, and declared that there was not the slightest doubt in his mind but that the killing was justifiable homicide, and discharged the defendant. The decision was received by strong demonstrations of approval by the mass of people who filled the court room.

A Plan for City Playgrounds.

City children are undoubtedly happy in their play, but I cannot watch them without sadness and a regret that the fuller pleasures of a country life will never be theirs at the time they are best fitted to enjoy them. The earnest pleading for a leaf or blossom from the flower laden tourist as, returning from his outing, he passes up the street; the eager band of merry children in pursuit of a wandering butterfly—fairylike visitor from a strange land—tell of a formless longing for the unknown freedom of the woods and fields. What can we do to add to the joys of a youth which is all too brief? As you enter your high school, these boys and girls enter on the serious duties of life. Then follows the struggle for existence, and a severe one it usually is.

We cannot give all these children homes in the country, we cannot give them all even an outing there; but we can give them playgrounds in the city; a very little plot here and there will do. We have reserved great parks and squares which we permit them to look at and sometimes to venture on. But as playgrounds these are practically useless; they are accessible to comparatively few. A vacant building lot in the proper district is far more to the purpose. Happy is the boy who lives near one! Notice the evidences of constant use it shows, the small baseball "diamond" clearly outlined, every smooth place pitted with marble holes.

What better investment could our cities make than to purchase small plots like this at intervals throughout the city, tear down the buildings, fill up the corners, and leave them, with no forbidding sign, open to the children. Their little feet would soon grade and harden the ground. In giving the nation's future workers such an opportunity to lay the foundation for stronger and healthier bodies and brighter wits the city would reap abundant interest on the capital invested.—Frank M. Chapman in St. Nicholas.

Honest New York Shop Girls.

A gentleman who lives in Cincinnati returned home a day or two ago after a fortnight's sojourn here deeply impressed with the honesty of the New York shop girl. On the day after his arrival in town he went into a large retail shop in Fourteenth street and made some trifling purchase. The next day he missed a pocketbook containing fifty dollars in currency. He thought that he had mislaid it in his room at the hotel, and a diligent search was made for it. He gave it up as lost, and would have dismissed the matter from his mind had not the clerk of the hotel suggested that he might possibly have left the pocketbook in some store.

The gentleman attached little importance to the suggestion, but about a week afterward he stepped into the Fourteenth street shop and laughingly asked one of the floor walkers if a pocketbook containing fifty dollars had been found there. Much to his surprise, an affirmative answer was given, and in a few seconds his property was restored to him. He learned that the saleswoman from whom he had made his purchase had pocketed the pocketbook on the counter after he had departed and promptly turned it in at the office.

"Are all your clerks as honest as that?" asked the Cincinnati man.

"Certainly," replied the superintendent of the store. "We have never yet failed to return property lost in this store to claimants who could prove their right to it."

"Well, that beats some towns," said the westerner. "Here's a 'V' for the saleswoman."—New York Weekly.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castorla.

Those Wires on the Bridge.

Thousands of people cross the bridge every day, but comparatively few of them know much about the wires that are trained across the big structure. They are there in great numbers and of almost endless variety. Their resting place is on the girders. Through them countless messages—telephonic and telegraphic—are transmitted at all hours of the day and night.

Some of them resemble ropes, but they are not, for each contains 500 telephone wires. Of these there are five. Besides them are many other black, snake-like strands, which are other means of communication with Brooklyn and points beyond. Of course, nearly everybody is aware that the land ends of the Atlantic cables of the Commercial company also cross the bridge, but their location is generally misunderstood. They are securely fastened to the under side of the promenade flooring, in plain view of passengers on the trains.—New York Herald.

Magnificent Tobacco Crop.

Good news for smokers comes from Havana. It is expected by the best authorities on the subject there that the present tobacco crop will even surpass that of ten years ago in quality and quantity. It promises, moreover, to "cure" early enough to enable it to be sampled by July. The interior harvests of the last nine years—with the exception of 1888, which was a comparatively good one—had all been late in arriving. For instance, that of 1890, in spite of the most careful treatment, could not be got to "cure" fit for smoking until last January. The crop is roughly estimated at a quarter of a million bales, each of 100 pounds weight.—London Telegraph.

Flannel Shirt, No Waistcoat.

The washable waistcoats that come in many well chosen designs will be worn with the coats and trousers. They may be worn with the cheviot, but not the flannel shirts. If it is so warm that the flannel shirt must be donned for comfort it is too warm to add the weight of the dressy waistcoat.—Clothing and Furnisher.

No Bids for the House.

The ancient house at Jedburgh, in which Mary Queen of Scots resided for several weeks during her visit to the border counties in the autumn of 1566, was offered for sale at Edinburgh last week, but there were no bids for the quaint and interesting dwelling, which was reserved at £2,300.—London Truth.

Postage Stamp Museum.

At Vienna a postage stamp museum has been opened to the public. The museum will be open to visitors daily and gratuitously. In one room are shown chronologically all stamps of which specimens exist from 1840 to 1891. Among the postal curiosities shown are balloon letters, pigeon post and submarine post letters, as they were sent during the siege of Paris in 1870.

A collection of forged stamps is also very interesting to the collector. Among the curious objects shown are letters of the Anthropophagi in the Dutch Indies, pieces of wool covered with hieroglyphics, and postcards which have made the tour of the world. For one of these with a penny stamp, which took 119 days to return to its starting point, an offer of 1,000 florins has been made.

There is also a case with a collection of all the coins struck during the Emperor Francis Joseph's reign. The finest object in the collection is believed to be a Dundee stamp, worth £300, and a Cape of Good Hope stamp valued at £100. The exhibition comprises 3,000,000 stamps and other objects connected with the post.—London Queen.

Were Female Attire All His Life.

Many examples are known of women dressing as men, but until lately no case has been known of a man going about disguised as a woman. A man named Signal, seventy-two years old, employed as a cook, was taken to the hospital of Saint Antoine, Paris, suffering from gastritis. Mistaken, on account of his dress, for a woman, he was taken to the ward reserved for members of the weaker sex. When they found out the mistake he was put into another ward.

The strangest thing about the whole case is that Signal says that he never wore male attire excepting on the day he was examined by the conseil de révision in order to determine whether he was fit for military service. When he was seventeen years old he went as a servant girl to a farm in Lin-sur-Mer. He remained there eleven years. He learned to cook at Caen and went to Paris, where he was employed as cook for forty years either in private families or in boys' schools.—Paris Letter.

Uniforms for Employees.

A Bristol storekeeper donned a white duck coat, and was so pleased with the effect that he ordered all of his employees to wear white duck coats during business hours. Rather than obey the order two of the clerks quit work. Nevertheless, uniforming goes on among store girls, judges, railroad hands, waiters and indeed in almost every occupation where it is desirable that the public should recognize the employees. The mistake of confusing a customer for a clerk has led to rather embarrassing situations in many a store, and clerks who object to being uniformed have the satisfaction of knowing that without their uniforms they cannot be distinguished from their employers.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

In the hippopotamus the eyes, ears and nostrils are set exactly on the same plane. This enables the animal to sink its body entirely below the surface of the water and yet be able to perceive the approach of foes by hearing, sight and scent.
